PERMANENT

The Pyramids of Egypt are the most stupendous and lasting monuments that human labour has been known to accomplish and have been objects of wonder from the age of Herodatus to the present time.

SOUND substantial work is, and always has been "worth while." To earn a reputation for skilful tradesmanship and thorough execution is to place yourself in the position of being able to select your own jobs and name your own price.

To such an end this House tenders its services. If you are in any difficulty or are up against any unusual problem our Chemists are your Chemists and our Laboratories your Laboratories—whilst as to goods, remember we, too, have earned a reputation.

Editorial Note.

I MUST express my regret at the delay in publishing this volume, containing as it does, the second half of the 1920 Royal Academy Review. I have experienced great difficulty in trying to accomplish a difficult and self-imposed task. The Architectural Review Section has undergone considerable change. Instead of publishing, without any special arrangement, material that might come to hand, I have endeavoured to give, in addition to the half-yearly Review of the Royal Academy Architectural Exhibition a number of subjects of at least 16 pages each: thus in this Volume sections on Interior Domestic Architecture, Sculpture, Theatres and Cinemas, Offices and Business Premises, are added, and Garden Architecture and Cottage Homes commenced in Volume 51 have been continued.

The contents of Volume 53, as far as the above sections are concerned, is assured, and will be published in September. It is hoped also to add illustrations on Hospitals.

I am, of course, open to receive Drawings and Photographs on any subject, and they will receive every consideration and will no doubt assist me to complete sections that are in the making.

It was with considerable regret that I was obliged to recommend Mr. Robert Atkinson to consent to my abandoning the proposed book on American Architectural Details advertised in Volume 51.

It gives me great pleasure in recommending to the profession Sydney W. Newbery as a thoroughly capable photographer, and it is mainly due to his whole-hearted assistance that I have been able to secure many satisfactory illustrations for this and future issues.
